Investment involves risks, including the loss of principle you invested. Past performance is not indicative of future results. Before investing in the ChinaAMC MSCI China A Inclusion Index ETF (the "Fund"), investor should refer to the Fund's prospectus for details, including the risk factors. You should not make investment decision based on the information on this material alone. Please note:

- The Fund aims to provide investment result that, before fees and expenses, closely corresponds to the performance of the MSCI China A Inclusion Index (the "Index"). The Fund invests in the PRC's securities market primarily through Stock Connect.
- The Fund is subject to concentration risk as a result of tracking the performance of a single geographical region (the PRC) and may likely be more volatile than a broad-based fund.
- Investing in PRC, an emerging market, involves a greater risk such as greater political, tax, economic, currency, liquidity, regulatory, legal, settlement and custody risks.
- The Fund is subject to risks associated with the Stock Connect Programme, such as change of laws, rules and regulations, quota limitations and suspension of the Programme.
- The Fund is subject to risks associated with the RQFII regime, such as change of laws, rules and regulations, insufficient RQFII quota, RQFII approval is revoked or terminated, or any of the key operators or parties is bankrupt or in default or disqualified.
- If there is a suspension of the inter-counter transfer of units between the HKD and RMB counters and/or any limitation of services of brokers and CCASS participants, unitholders will only be able to trade their units in one counter only. The market price of units traded in each counter may deviate significantly. As such, investors may pay more or receive less when trading in HKD counter than in RMB counter and vice versa.
- Unitholders will receive distributions in the RMB only. In the event that an unitholder has no RMB account, the unitholder may have to bear the bank or financial institution fees and charges associated with currency conversion.
- As the stock exchanges in PRC may be open when units in the Fund are not priced, the value of the securities in the Fund's portfolio may change on days when investors will not be able to transact the Fund's Units.
- Differences in trading hours between the SSE or the SZSE and the SEHK. A-Shares are subject to trading bands while units listed on the SEHK are not. Both factors may increase the level of premium or discount of the unit price to its NAV.
- The Fund is not "actively managed" and therefore, when there is a decline in the Index, the Fund will also decrease in value. The Manager will not take defensive position in declining markets. Investors may lose a significant part or all of their respective investments if the Index falls.
- The Index is a new index having only been launched on 23 October 2017. Given that the Index is relatively new, the Fund may be riskier than other ETF tracking more established indices.
- Generally, retail investors can only buy or sell units of the Fund on the SEHK. The trading price of the units on the SEHK is driven by market factors such as the demand and supply of the units. Therefore, the units may trade at a substantial premium or discount to the Fund's NAV.
